

1963 EXCALIBUR

CROWN POINT HIGH SCHOOL
CROWN POINT, INDIANA

*You'll find us
loyal, ever true*

When the County Fair folded overnight, when it became too cool to swim in Fancher, when tanned faces could get no tanner, it was time for school. High schoolers of Crown Point, Cedar Lake, and the surrounding townships awoke from the spell of idle summer days and prepared to gain wisdom, to think, to spend the next nine months drenching themselves in facts and losing their tans.

The season passed with its share of highlights: Christmas and New Years, the basketball Sectionals, Easter, the Prom, Graduation, punctuated at six week intervals with report card day, "dooms day". However, led and directed by new principal, Ray Rogers, and new vice principal, Roger Childress, the school year of '62-'63 proved one in which C.PHS'ers gladly said to their school . . .

School spirit felt

A common scene at CPHS is the crowded halls between classes.

But after the bell, the corridors become quiet and deserted.

throughout CPHS

On weekdays the general hub-bub at school commences at some time after 7:15—much too early for some students. Out-of-towners drive up in yellow buses, a number of others arrive on foot, while the rest come in their cars and noisily fill up the school parking lot as the morning progresses. The before-first-period gab sessions continue till the bell's mmelodical ring sends everyone to class. Time usually passes then with each student looking forward to lunch with its intramurals, delicious cafeteria food, and dancing in the rec-room. Thereafter the clock takes its time to reach three o'clock. Even after school hours extracurricular activities and athletics demand time and energy. Thus it is apparent that school life occupies a major part of a student's time and usually becomes a matter of routine. But a day hardly ever goes by that fails to bring something new to add to past experience.

Rings such as these became a symbol of the Class of '63.

The rec room is a place for students to mingle, dance, chat, and grab a snack during lunch hours or after school.

sets fashion pace for CPHS'ers

Each year brings about fads—some traditional, some brought back from the past, and some brand new. Senior cords, junior class sweaters, and sophomore class rings are the most popular of the CPHS customs. This fall knee socks were brought back from the twenties when the vogue was to wear them with golf knickers, only this year girls wore them with short pleated skirts. Huge purses of burlap or tapestry were as common in the CPHS halls and classrooms as were the ever-popular "gummies". Small animal jewelry and initial pins were also a hit.

Many of the boys wore either argyle or wide-striped sweaters over white shirts. "Steadies" still wore steady shirts and sweaters with the girl wrapping a fluff of angora around the boy's ring.

CPHS'ers fill spare Time

The 1340 students of CPHS all at one time or another make their way to different scenes of activity. Besides classrooms, each becomes familiar with the cafeteria, the bookstore, the library, and the office, headquarters of the heads. The next area one gets to know is the recreation room and how to operate the juke box. Games of basketball attract crowds to the gym, and football draws its to the football field to crouch on the bleachers in fair weather and foul. The old practice field is the scene of much action; outdoor gym classes, band practices, baseball games, and football calisthenics. The student parking lot also belongs in the category of scenes of activity on the campus of CPHS.

Juniors D. Nemes, B. Schmal, and K. Zula are ready to burn a Lowell Red Devil in effigy at the bonfire.

The bookstore allows students to purchase needed school supplies.

Students rush down to the cafeteria to wait in line for their lunches.

Homecoming Queen candidates, Jane Leonardelli, Illa Jo Watt, Dee James, and Janet Schulte, watch the first half of the football game from their seats of honor on the float.

Homecoming and Prom give CPHS'ers

Congratulations! Nancy Werblo crowns 1962 Homecoming Queen, Janet Schulte, and Mr. Football, Dennis Navarre.

Waving banners, floating streamers, the shouting voices of CPHS students as they followed their class cars around the town square, and rousing band music marked the traditional Homecoming parade. After circling the football field, everyone prepared to watch the tense Homecoming game against the Lowell Red Devils—a game that will go down in CPHS annals as a decisive victory. The Queen and Mr. Football were crowned at half-time in a sudden moment of absolute darkness on the field. At game's end students and recent alumni left the field for the dance to help celebrate their team's victory.

Another important social event was the long-anticipated Junior-Senior Prom. The exotic mood of "Almost Paradise" prevailed as couples danced, talked, ate, and chose their Prom royalty, who then led the grand march. Decoration, publicity, and ticket committees, staffed by juniors, strained budget and nerves to make this one of the best-remembered Proms of all.

The magic of swaying palms and colorful stones transform Taft cafeteria in to "Almost Paradise."

As the year progressed, the list of queens, kings, and sweethearts grew longer and longer. At each formal or semi-formal there was some form of royalty to reign over its proceedings. Beginning the list were Homecoming's Queen and her gallant escort Mr. Football. As they left the scene, in marched another monarch, the PTA's Holly Hop Queen. Spring ushered in still more to fill the bulging ranks of bluebloods. Both the FFA and the Hi-Y elected sweethearts to act as honorary mascots. The Sunshine Society contributed its Rose Queen and lastly came the Junior-Senior Prom's King and Queen, two of the most time-honored and distinguished bluebloods of all.

Accepting a bouquet of roses and the title FFA Sweetheart from Jerry Hines is freshman Sandra Lorenz.

Milt Thomas reigns as Man of the Year and Merry Zmuda's creation for John Mako won top honors as the best hat.

Senior D. Buehler, caped by Mrs. Brock, becomes the 1962 Holly Hop Queen. Other candidates were J. Fricke, C. Ivko, and C. Moffit.

Winter dances lead up to spring

Judy Bare pins a boutonniere on her date, Doug Cunningham, at the Sunshine Hi-Y Semi-formal.

Winter festivities allow the CPHS'ers to relax and unwind after weeks of concentrated study. Since the Sunshine-Hi-Y and the GAA-Lettermen semi-formals are turn-abouts, many couples attend, girls dressed their prettiest and the boys their most handsome. In the spring, though, thoughts turn to the end of school and the fun that summer brings.

The most popular and widely attended Friday night dance of the year is the Excalibur Dance, held in late spring. Although there is not much dancing, the juke box blares on, while everyone mills around signing books with his own unique autograph.

For the seniors, Baccalaureate and Commencement finally roll around as the class performs its last acts together. From then on, each graduate goes his own way, but each will probably never forget CPHS.

Janet McDonald and her date, Bill Haniford, enter the GAA-Letterman Semi-formal.

Academics

For seven hours during the day, CPHS'ers have their heads crammed with facts, figures, and new ideas. At the end of the year, pupils with high scholastic achievements and outstanding records are rewarded on Honor Day, if not with material awards, at least with self-satisfaction of a job well done. Students showing an interest in specific fields are selected to go on special trips sponsored by local organizations. With all the added knowledge gained at CPHS, students are able to tackle problems facing them in the outside world, thus giving it this solemn promise . . .

Good citizens and scholars earn

high honors

At CPHS the emphasis is on scholarship plus citizenship. To honor students who remain on the honor roll at each grade period the National Honor Society presents to each a certificate at its annual evening program. Those students having outstanding grades with a 3.75 average are invited to attend the Kiwanis Scholarship Banquet. This year three rather than two seniors were named Valedictorian and Salutatorian since two qualified for the former. Many seniors also won scholarships and heading this list were the National Merit Scholarship finalists.

Interest in government, the basis of good citizenship, is developed through various programs most of which are voluntary. Among these are Girls' and Boys' State, the World Affairs Institute, and a trip to the United Nations.

Sharing the honors for co-valedictorians of the Class of '63 are J. Jackson and J. Leonardelli; R. Colyer is salutatorian.

Boys' State representatives for the summer of '62 were J. Knight, D. Alm, R. Kruk, P. Petrunich, and B. Matthews.

Students study,

The study of United States government and of the history of civilization is a vital part of the curriculum at Crown Point. Some social studies courses are required such as civics and economics in the senior year and U.S. history in the junior year. Also available in the senior year are psychology and sociology; world geography is open to all. The National Honor Society sponsors a Student Legislature Assembly near the close of the second semester. In this program junior and senior social studies students participate as senators and representatives in a mock session of Congress. The actual governmental procedure is re-enacted to encourage students to become active citizens by being well-informed.

Linda Wirtz and Jan Luers set up the display case depicting February as National History Month.

Common occurrences at CPHS are tests, and social studies classes get their share of these exams.

Movies help students learn valuable information about history, while they make an interesting way of presenting the data.

discuss, and practice government

Kjell-Ove Engeseth, native of Trondheim, Norway, is CPHS's third foreign exchange student.

This year as in the past two years CPHS has welcomed into its midst a foreign student. Under the auspices of the American Field Service the exchange student program provides for a summer abroad for a CPHS student and a school year here for some foreign student. '62 '63 brought from across the sea Norwegian exchange student Kjell-ove Engeseth who soon became known to all as "Shel". Last summer Eric Christophersen, chosen from among many hopeful applicants, journeyed to Finland and there spent three months representing American youth. In this way the high school plays an important role in the continuous world-wide exchange of ideas and culture and helps bring about a better understanding between nations.

Juniors and seniors listen intently to correct procedures for the Student Legislative Assembly.

Hard work and ability win awards

Pat Martin received the honor of being both the DAR Good Citizen and the Betty Crocker Homemaker of the Year.

Two CPHS'ers qualified as National Merit Scholarship Finalists—John Jackson and Robbie Colyer.

Math stays hard

Among the many awards and honors offered in various fields is the Betty Crocker Homemaker Award. The state Homemaker of Tomorrow is chosen from the town winners by means of a test and is awarded with a $1,500 scholarship and an expense-paid, educational tour of New York City and Washington, D. C. Another is the DAR Good Citizen Award which is given to a senior girl selected by the faculty and senior class on the basis of scholarship, honor, and integrity.

To graduate from CPHS one need not be a mathematical whiz. In fact, not a few have been known to be completely stumped by algebraic equations, proofs, and constructions. But one does have to know some math. A student taking a business course does not have to include algebra and geometry in his curriculum; nevertheless, he must take business math in order to complete the two-year requirement in mathematics. Students also may choose to take high school math, advanced algebra, or senior math.

John Lurtz proves the Pythagorean Theorem to Mrs. Scales and the class in geometry.

"Mmmm . . . What's that cooking over in the halls of CPHS during the school year. Not only did the girls taking home economics learn the fine art of cooking, but they also learned how to sew, plan nutritious meals, decorate a home, and take care of children. Right now the girls find that sewing saves them a considerable amount of money and cooking provides satisfaction for both the chef and the taster. Eventually, these skills will help the future wives and mothers in Male CPHS'ers are not idle either. While the girls learn culinary arts and dressmaking, the boys make wood articles and learn how to weld, fix a car, or sketch their dream houses. They also learn how to fix all kinds of machines and gain the basic knowledge of the soil. The some day breadwinners will be able to seek professions or do odd jobs around their own homes through their training at the Hub City high school.

Romance languages fascinate

Phil Walker, Rita Overturf, and Keith Kruk compare Latin notes.

Besides Greek, familiar to all students, CPHS also offers courses in several other frequently used foreign languages: Latin, Spanish, and French. Three years of Latin are taught in which students delve into works of Caesar, Cicero, and Virgil. The intricate nuances of the French tongue seem to fascinate some and lure them on to three years of also study. Spanish answers its students' questions about its dark, exciting people; Conquistadores and Moors. To aid students of foreign language, a versatile set of equipment is available. Seven tape recorders and thirty-six earphones are used for practicing and detecting errors in speech. For additional practice and information there are two filmstrip projectors and two record players. Individual booths accommodate apparatus.

Amateur scientists probe unknown

Tom Witten and Guy Syler perform an electrolysis experiment in chemistry class.

Rotten-egg aromas, dismembered biology specimens, and weird geometric shapes fill and clutter the science rooms each year. All CPHS'ers are required to take at least two years of science courses, the first being health and safety. Sophomores have a choice between general science and biology. Students interested in the biological sciences can and often do take the advanced biology course that is offered in summer school.

Upperclassmen who are planning to major or minor in science take chemistry and physics. These courses are more difficult requiring much time and effort on the part of each student.

The climax of the science department comes with the annual science fair held every March. Its main purposes are to develop student initiative and interest in science.

Physicists Robbie Colyer and Arlyn Czimer demonstrate to the class how the sound of a tuning fork resonates through an open tube.

T. Clift, P. Bonini, R. Stillwagon, and P. Petho experiment with the force of gravity in a general science class.

Sophomores J. Mills, A. Kacmar, and R. Lindau perform dissections of six different animals during their biology courses.

Skills of musicians and artists

Culture in the form of music and art prevails throughout the school halls. Display windows in the main hall offer many colorful viewings of the arts and crafts, while down in the east wing the walls tremble as the band plays on. Individual talent is sought out and developed, whether it's daubing in oils, possessing a melodious voice, or handling a musical instrument with unusual dexterity. The music and art departments besides imbuing students with culture and finding their talents also provides an atmosphere to school functions that would otherwise be seriously lacking. An art of a different sort offered at CPHS is mechanical and architectural drawing. These courses are vocational preparation for those interested in engineering or architecture.

Ken Diddie practices for the Solo and Ensemble Contest.

The implements of architectural drawing demand precision and imagination.

Students major, minor in phys-ed

Going along with the current rage of physical fitness is the physical education program at CPHS of which at least two years are required for graduation. The many aspects of the program include gymnastics, tumbling, square dancing, track, and learning sports and competitive games. All these activities are taught on suitable apparatus such as parallel bars, rings, mats, the horse, and trampolines. Not only is the body toned up and kept so, but also the mind and mental facilities are sharpened by participation in these activities.

Among courses offered for the business-bound student are bookkeeping, business math, shorthand, and typing. All these commercial classes are included in a straight business course.

Boys' physical education classes have to display their fitness for a grade; one feat is performing maneuvers on the horizontal bar.

ACTIVITIES

Complementing academics is the active, busy whirl of the extra-curricular activities, the other half of school life. Twenty-six clubs branch out into fields of interest to all students: vocations, government, publications, community service, dramatics, art, school spirit. These organizations provide outlets for individual talent and creativity and strengthen qualities of leadership and imagination. And throughout all of them runs one thread — the fact that the backdrop, the center of all scheming and planning is the one and only CPHS . . .

Student Council operates rec room,

The Student Council is a form of school government which has as one of its aims the furthering of citizenship—its principles and responsibilities. To emphasize the responsibilities high school students should develop, the Council has established codes for dress, driving, and social behavior. The Council also works to build the proper respect for faculty members, administrators, and school property. Another goal is to encourage high scholastic endeavors by establishing the National Honor Society, honor roll system, and an Awards Day. The Council also offers two scholarships to students pursuing a two year college course. Among the community projects included in the many duties of the Council is the co-sponsoring with the Rotary Club of the exchange student program.

helps plan rules

School spirit and the school's general welfare are important to the student government. As one of the projects for the year, the class representatives work to promote more interest and variety at the Friday night dances. Meanwhile, they still decorate the halls for Christmas, assist in paying for the cheerleaders' uniforms, and furnish the food for the Turkey Trot.

The time of busiest activity for the Council comes during election of next year's Student Council. The vigorous and competitive campaigns are conducted with stickers, tags, catchy phrases, and an appropriate party title. Voting machines are used on election day and thus the new Student Council comes into office in a truly democratic fashion.

Academic emphasis common ground

The National Honor Society of CPHS represents the cream of the "intellectual" crop. Members are selected by the faculty on the basis of scholarship, leadership, character, and service. The NHS receives these chosen ones at the induction ceremonies held in April. Among the several programs presented by the Society was "Our Men in Europe", featuring Kjell Engeseth, the Norwegian exchange student. Like last year the NHS worked for the Channel 11 Funds and, as is tradition, a Christmas party was given for CPHS graduates. Meetings were varied as much as possible; one in the form of a "pot-luck" was held at the home of sponsor, Miss Alice Lauterbur. As final projects, the Society sponsored the senior scholarship program and gave recognition to students who were on the honor roll throughout the year.

NHS officers are J. Jackson, P. Kruger, P. Martin, J. Pavlish, B. Meyer, C. Gerde, and R. Colyer.

Students harboring the thought of possibly becoming teachers became more so inclined after joining the FTA—its main purpose being to encourage teaching vocations. At meetings they learned the requirements, duties, and satisfactions of that profession. Different phases were discussed by guest speakers, among them School Superintendent Brannock. Several members spent some time observing class procedure at local elementary schools, thus understanding better what teaching demands. To promote further interest the club offers a scholarship. Members aided teachers, earned points, and received pins by grading papers, typing, and selling ice cream bars at home games.

They also noted the effects of different environments on plants and learned characteristics of the various blood types—they themselves acting as "guinea pigs" for the latter.

Girls with an eye on the future and a desire for mastering the womanly arts headed straight for the FHA—Future Homemakers of America. At Christmastime the club presented a Mother-Daughter Banquet, and in May it sponsored the annual Fashion Show.

This year the FNA—Future Nurses of America—broadened its scope to include girls interested in any health career. Members delved into physical and occupational therapy, and had as guest speaker a speech therapist. The club also benefited the Athletics Department with the purchase of splints.

Service clubs unite for Bundle Day

The Sunshine Society, one of the most popular and active clubs in the school, continued quietly to spread good cheer and warmth under the inspiration of its motto "others". They distributed Thanksgiving baskets among the poor and needy and sent Valentine's Day trays to homes for the aged. At Christmastime to heighten the prevailing spirit of good will small favors in the form of candles in decorated holders were placed in each classroom. Profits from the candy sales provided the $200 which went to the Riley Hospital fund. Also this was the second year that the club sent $120 to support an Indian girl in Arizona. Along with the Rose Dance in April the Sunshiners also participated with the Hi-Y in the annual clothing drive and SSS—Hi-Y formal. The club, sponsored by Mrs. Ruth Crowell, also paid the expenses of sending its president to a summer camp.

In order to further their cause, that of maintaining in themselves and extending to others high standards of Christian character, the Hi-Y boys perform various functions throughout the year. For the first time they attended the Hi-Y Officers Retreat held in Michigan. They competed in the Hi-Y Tournaments and journeyed to Indianapolis for the State Convention in March. In the field of recreation and fun was the Christmas formal and a hayride in the fall. Activities of the club neared the end in the spring with the announcement of Diane Nemes as Hi-Y Chapter Sweetheart at a dance in her honor. Other activities include serving as guides for parents on open house nights and parking cars for football and basketball fans on game nights. Aiding the club in these activities was sponsor Clyde Zeck.

"Buenos dias" and "bon jour" are familiar words to the students in Spanish and French classes. This year CPHS has enlarged its language department by adding two new courses, third year Spanish and third year French. The language and culture of France, Spain, and the Spanish-speaking countries of South America are studied in the Modern Language Club. This year the club's Christmas party had as its main attraction a pinata filled with candy, the breaking of which is an old Spanish custom for the most gala fiestas. In November the club went to Chicago to see "The Longest Day."

"Ave" was the popular greeting during the Roman Empire. The Latin Club, currently composed of second and third year students, will soon include a club offered for first year students. This club is a member of the Junior Classical League, one of the few state and national organizations offered to high school students. The history, culture, and customs of the Greeks and Romans are studied by the Latin Club, with its main activity as the annual spring banquet.

Speech, literature

As the name suggests, the Speech and Debate Club is comprised of lively, curious people who spend their leisure time debating and speaking. The club emphasizes initiative, awareness, and effective expression all of which will prove invaluable in the future. Throughout the year members compete in various speech meets and in February held a meet at CPHS. The club participated in a debate clinic at Butler University and in December attended the Purdue Legislative Conference. The Speech and Debate Club is also in charge of the school Legislative Assembly which takes place each year.

Under the guidance of Miss Roney the Librarians learn the tricks of their trade while performing various tasks. All day—including lunch hours—some diligent member is present in the library checking out books, answering questions, and keeping everything in order. This fall the club attended a mass meeting of librarians at Ball State where they learned more of what is involved in their work.

Is joke-telling a part of Speech and Debate? Officers D. Lottes, B. Meyer, C. Gerde and P. Martin know the answer.

Filmstrips, tape recorders, and record players are available for use during the school year because of the efforts of the Audio-Visual Technicians. Giving useful experience for the future and supplying the school with invaluable teaching aids are the purposes of this club. For other vocational interests, there is the FFA, an organization to create a respect for and knowledge of agriculture for future farmers.

Another club with helpful vocational training is the newly-formed Industrial Arts Club, consisting of guilds for separate crafts, including graphics, machine shop, wood shop, automotives, electronics, welding, and sheet metal work. These guilds give students a character-building background that will enable them to better serve their community and school, and prepare them for future journeymen or apprentices.

After-school practice sessions gave GAA members the techniques required for gymnastics and tumbling, thus preparing the girls for the GAA playday to be held in the spring. The year began, though, with GAA bowling, in which the two girls with the highest averages won trophies.

For the second year, GAA united with the Lettermen's Club for a semi-formal in February. This year, however, the dance was open to all CPHS'ers, not just to members of either club. In the spring the club had a carnival, with different booths, such as pie-throwing and balloon-breaking, and a three ring circus act.

The club sponsors a scholarship program for any GAA'er who is planning to study physical education or physical therapy in college. GAA also awards a senior girl with a letter sweater for being the most all-around girl in the club.

GAA officers are S. Krestan, S. Krestan, S. Wise, J. Paarlberg, K. Zula, and B. Foor.

Red and white capes, red shakers, and white gloves gave the booster block added sparkle for the promotion of school spirit. Guided by R. Keller, sponsor, Booster Club officers, J. Schulte, pres.; N. Werblo, v.p.; D. James, sec.; and A. Czimer, treas., arranged for fan busses to away games and organized the block in stripes, squares, or the familiar "C".

Booster Club activities were not limited to basketball, however. The club planned and organized the Homecoming events, including the parade, choosing of candidates for Queen and Mr. Football, and sponsoring the victory dance. The club also promoted attendance at the minor sports events.

Scholastic and athletic achievements

After passing an exam on the club's constitution and earning a major letter in a sport offered by the school, a member of the Lettermen's Club is presented with the familiar deep red sweater with the big white "C". This sweater symbolizes the aim of the organization—to infuse true sportsmanship and high ideals into the boys of CPHS. The first big occasion of the year was the Lettermen-GAA semi-formal presented in February. Activities of the club were climaxed with the banquet given for the coaches and members. The club maintained its funds by reserving a booth at the GAA Carnival, by selling programs at home football games, and by taking charge of concessions and coats at home basketball games. The Lettermen were sponsored by Dave Schaeffer and Jerry Jones.

give honors to CPHS boys

Each year twenty-seven senior boys are chosen by the school administration and respective clubs to be Junior Kiwanians or Junior Rotarians. In order to receive this honor, they must have good scholastic averages and outstanding records in one of the school's extra-curricular activities such as clubs, athletics, A Cappella, or Band. Every month there is one Junior Kiwanian and two Junior Rotarians who are expected to attend weekly meetings and special programs of their respective clubs. At the final meeting of the month each student gives a resume of what he has learned and discusses his part in school activities. The Junior Kiwanian also expresses his views on radio station WWCA.

"Annie, you have to learn how to be a lady," says J. Coe to K. Esser.

The A Cappella's yearly program, crowded with rehearsals, recitals, concerts, and contests, resumed the same tempo—with variations on the theme. On May 4-5 of '62 the A Cappella performed in full western regalia amid laughter and applause the operetta "Annie Get Your Gun". Directed by Alfred Richter, this show gave to promising vocalists in the choir added experience and knowledge. The first concert open to the public was the annual Christmas Concert presented jointly with the High School Band.

In February members of the choir attended a Regional Piano-Vocal Solo, Ensemble Contest at Lew Wallace. Of the seventy-five students who entered, thirty-one received first division honors.

When the contests were over, preparations began for the presentation of two programs near the end of the school year, these being the Choral Festival and the Spring Concert. Members also took a field trip to Chicago to see the noted Bolshoi Ballet on tour from Russia.

In honor of Florence Thomas, the well-known choral director of previous years, the A Cappella purchased two stereo recorders and two sets of earphones. Also it added to the music department's equipment a new Baldwin piano.

Practicing two or three times a week is a group of twelve A Cappella members known as the Swing Choir. They won first place awards at the District Solo and Ensemble Contest, performed at school choral programs, and made several club appearances. Other vocal groups are the Freshman Ensemble and the Madrigals which is composed of more advanced students.

The players raise their instruments and train 105 pairs of eyes on director Carl Smolik—the concert is about to begin. In this way the CPHS Concert Band began each of its numerous performances. Those given annually include the Pop Concert, Christmas Concert, and Guest Artist Concert which in '62 featured Al Gallodoro, the world's foremost woodwind virtuoso. The Band provided music for Commencement and assembly programs and participated in solo, ensemble, and organizational band contests.

The Marching Bulldog Band, composed of 98 instrumentalists, is the indispensable feature of CPHS football games and parades. It marched in the Labor Day and July 4th parades and at the Holland Tulip Festival, the La Grange Pet Parade, and the Parade of Champions at Chicago's Review Tournament of Bands. The highlight of the summer program was the Band's appearance before 55,000 spectators in Soldier's Field at the Chicagoland Music Festival.

Other units of the band are the Dixieland Band and Dance Band. These provide music for civic, social, service organizations, churches, PTA's, and other community groups throughout the year. The Reserve Band, open to all students having an interest, is a training unit for the Concert Band. It performs occasionally at basketball games, parades, pep sessions, and civic events.

Students participating in the band program are given an opportunity for personality development through self-expression and emotional release. At the same time they learn proficiency on a band instrument and an appreciation of worthwhile music. Their frequent performances give them a chance to apply acquired abilities.

This year they went to the Chicagoland Music Festival, the Holland Tulip Festival, the La Grange Pet Parade, the Lake County Fair, and also marched at all home football games.

The Dance Band, which performs at many high school functions and at Taft's eighth grade graduation, received a second-place rating in a contest at Oaklawn, Illinois, and took top honors in the Northern Indiana School Band-Orchestra-Vocal Association competition.

added culture

With the start of the new school year, the Drama Club once more became active. As a group the members journeyed to Chicago to see outstanding productions such as "West Side Story" and "Carnival". Also plays presented by Valpo University students provided excellent opportunities to see levels of amateur acting. At meetings a regular feature was a presentation or skit volunteered by a member which served as entertainment.

While ducking through the main hall, one might get stuck by a display window wherein are several paintings, sketches, or block-prints. These works of art can usually be attributed to the Art Club. Its cause—to further interest in art—is carried out in this and other ways, namely: having professionals as guest speakers, sponsoring a scholarship to I.U. for a summer art course, and trouping to the Chicago Art Institute.

JUNIOR PLAY CAST—J. Willman, B. Lindau, R. Kruk, Z. Schwucho, J. Kemp, J. Taylor, J. Allee, A.

Henderlong, K. Hedman, N. Werblo, G. Crontz, G. Engstrom, S. Jacoby, J. Coe, D. Crane.

"Howie," the Junior Class Play, opened with Edith and Walter Simms (Gretchen Crontz and John Coe) discussing their daughter (June Taylor) and their shiftless new son-in-law, Howie (Kit Hedman). Howie seems to get into everyone's hair, including the Simms' younger daughter's (Arleen Henderlong) and her boyfriend's (Jack Kemp), until Howie goes on a TV quiz show and has the chance to win a large amount of money, but makes a mistake and loses. Others in the play were Susan Jacoby, Don Crane, Jane Willman, Randy Kruk, George Engstrom, Zada Schwucho, Jerry Allee, Susie Spencer, Bob Lindau, and Nancy Werblo. Linda Dunkle assisted Richard Gordon in the direction of the play.

Walter Sims, (J. Coe), wishes Howie Dickerson, (K. Hedman), good luck on his television appearance.

"I QUIT!" screams K. Hedman to J. Allee, G. Cronz, and S. Porter when he learns he may be "Mother of the Year."

In "Father Was a Housewife" Tom Butler (Kit Hedman), a songwriter, always meant to sell one of his 2000 songs, but Fate seemed to be against it. His wife, Ann (Gretchen Cronz), a doctor, and their two children (Nancy Werblo and Jerry Allee) rely on Tom to take care of the house. A stroke of luck brings a door-to-door salesman (Bob Lindau) to the Butler household, and he becomes Tom's agent. Life goes fine for the Butlers until a neighbor (Shirley Porter) announces Tom is a final candidate for "Mother of the Year." Further complications arise until Tom sells a song and becomes a top songwriter. Other seniors in the cast include Jack Kemp, Randy Kruk, Linda Smith, Mary Fran Glassford, Sue Jacoby, Arlyn Czimer, Zada Schwucho, June Taylor, and Bill Drake. Richard Gordon and Jane Willman directed the comedy.

"Darling, why can't you be Frank?" sings K. Hedman to B. Lindau.

Deadlines and budgets

Though no one on the Excilibur staff could deny that fifth period in room 108 was fun as well as work, putting the yearbook together was a task that weighed heavily on its members. The book had to be not only good, but one of the best in order to win, for the tenth consecutive year, the All-American honor rating from the National Scholastic Press Association. The groundwork for the '63 Excilibur was laid during the summer by co-editors Liz Jannasch and Arlyn Czimer; however, the book had its real beginnings in May '62 at the annual Publications Banquet. It was then that members of next year's staff were announced and plans for attending the summer Journalism Institute at Indiana University were formed. While attending the institute, the editors learned the basics of compiling a high quality yearbook such as the Excilibur of previous years.

The publications department also includes the school newspaper, the Inklings. With a staff of seventy-seven reporters and editors working diligently, the paper appeared weekly to bring students up to date with happenings on the school scene. Under the supervision of editors Linda Jefferson and Steve Golden thirty-two deadlines were met including several special issues at Christmas and other holidays. Every Wednesday night was spent feverishly fitting copy, writing headlines and cutlines, and completing page layouts. As a result the paper won prizes for the best features, headlines, and front page. Circulation and business staffs were managed by Gretchen Grontz and Shirley Porter respectively. The Inklings also sponsored the annual Man of the Year-Hat Dance in February.

SPORTS

During the '62-'63 sports calendar CPHS' ers experienced moments to be breathlessly relived again and again, moments of exquisite joy and tearful anguish. Basketball gave fans its share of such moments with a thunderous victory at the Holiday Tourneys and tragic defeat at the Sectionals. Wrestling produced similar emotions and on the gridiron success was bought dearly in a season of 4-6. Cross country, track, baseball, and golf each attracted their fans who in their turn experienced supreme moments of pride in CPHS athletes.

Homecoming win highlights season

The varsity football squad, supported by only seven returning lettermen, finished with four and six in the won-lost column for the 1962 season. The team gained over a thousand more yards and made twenty more first downs than their opponents, but they averaged ten points per game less in the all-important scoring column.

The Bulldogs showed spirited determination in their 27-6 first-game victory over Valpo, but Coach Carter's "Rebs" seemed sluggish against Horace Mann, and the Horsemen trampled the Red and White, 49-19. The "animals" bounded back, however with a superb effort against Highland and won, 25-6.

The Hub gridders ran into some fierce competition from the Pirates of Merrillville, as the Bucs ran, passed, and kicked to a decisive 27-6 victory. The next encounter found the Edison Blazers coming from behind in the second half to upend the Hubmen 18-12 in a very exciting dual. The fighting Bulldogs then found themselves the victims of a sound 39-0 spanking by the big and fast Hobart Brickies. The team came back with determination but were downed by Calumet in a very close 21-15 contest. The next two games, however, were quite different stories. The fiery Hubmen slashed the Red Devils of Lowell, 32-13, to add the perfect touch to the colorful CP Homecoming festivities. With the Lowell win under their helmets, the gridders rapped Griffith but were then downed by Lew Wallace in the final game of the season.

Hard-hitting senior Denny Navarre topped off a good year by being selected "Mr. Football." Linemen Jack Kemp, Fred Urbanski, and Don "Yogi" Crane continued their spirited, high-caliber play, and seniors Jim Pause and Robbie Colyer starred as the team's outstanding backs. Jim and Robbie were later selected co-captains.

Reserves end 3-2-2, Frosh winless

The Crown Point reserve football team recorded a fair season record, winning three, dropping two, and playing to two ties. The young gridders opened with a 12-6 win over Valpo and then battled to a scoreless tie with Hobart's Brickies. Andrean and Edison each overpowered the Hub forces, and then another scoreless tie occurred, this time with Lowell.

The inspired Bulldogs, gaining revenge for the varsity's loss to Merrillville, scuttled the Pirate ship 10-6, and then proceeded to annihilate Rensselaer, 20-0. At this point, however, the good fortunes ended, and the Hubmen were downed by East Chicago Washington, the clawing Panthers of Grif-fith, and the Hornets of Gary Lew Wallace, bringing the '62 season to a close.

Quarterback Mike Banser skillfully dodges tacklers as Pete Szutenbach keeps a watchful eye out in the background.

"Look out, Frank, the hands of doom are on you!" Fullback Frank Zelincik attempts a fast get-away.

The freshman team ran into some pretty rugged competition, as they managed only one tie against three setbacks. The first game proved to be the least disheartening of the short four-game schedule, as the Bullpups fought to a scoreless tie with arch-rival Lowell. The team exerted a brilliant defensive effort but couldn't seem to get their, as yet, untested offensive machine into operation. A strong, tough Gary Andrean squad handed the freshmen their first loss, 27-7, and the discouraged gridders never did recover, as they took a 31-7 thumping from EC Washington and ended with a 26-16 loss to Hobart.

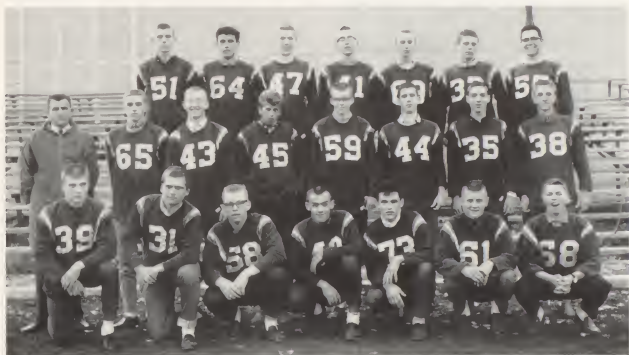

Outstanding players all season for the reserve and freshman squads included quarterbacks Randy Harris and Bob Brock, backs "Rutzy" Yarnell, Greg Anderson, and Pete Szutenbach, and lineman Gary Paarlberg.

Led by the tireless running of senior Jack Linley and junior Tom Witten, the 1962 cross country squad posted a very respectable season record of 14 wins and five losses as competition for the top spots in this area becomes keener each year.

The Bulldogs opened with consecutive setbacks to perennially tough Hobart and Chesterton, but then went on to defeat East Chicago Washington, LaPorte, Morton, Portage twice, Wirt, Lowell, East Gary, Highland, Griffith, Gary Edison, and Knox, while losing only to Michigan City, Valparaiso, and Calumet.

The harriers placed fourth in the Calumet Conference meet and then went to the Delphi Invitational the next day to clock the fastest average team time in the history of CPHS. The boys placed fourth in the La Porte sectional to qualify for the regional. There they battled snowy turf and icy wind in wrestling tights, gloves, and stocking caps, to place seventh in a field of 15 teams.

Gymnasts cop second at state meet

The newly organized gymnastics team, which is now only in its third year of interscholastic competition, posted a 9-5 dual meet record, placed third in the Warren Central Invitational, and captured second place in a 16-team field at the State meet held at Indianapolis.

Crown Point's success can pretty well be explained in the person of sensational Terry Cox, who established school records in three major departments. The versatile sophomore collected 330.5 of the team's dual meet 744-point total, won 32 of the team's 42 first place ribbons, and became the first CPHS athlete to win first place honors in any sort of state competition by walking away with the state horizontal bar championship.

Terry will be living in Milwaukee next year, but several promising team members will return. They include Steve Golden, John Lurtz, Lann Mowry, Norb Kubiak, Craig Collins, and Rich Bednarsky. Craig took a third place state ribbon on the trampoline, and Rich copped second on the rings.

High point man on the team, gymnast Terry Cox works on a difficult routine on the side horse.

Hoopsters

"Keep your eyes on the Bulldogs!" These sentiments were being echoed all through the halls of CPHS as the '62-'63 season got under way. The scrappy young roundballers wasted no time stalling the Horsemen from Horace Mann 59-53 in the opening clash. They then went on to scalp the Indians from Dyer and the Warriors of Calumet by six and 11 points respectively. The Bulldogs won their first road game at Culver, 63-56.

The next encounter on the Crown Point hardwood found the speedy Delphi Oracles literally running the sluggish Hub quintet to death, winning 50-45. The shell-shocked Red and White couldn't quite do the trick at Hobart either, and the Brickies won 64-62.

Christmas means holiday tourneys, and for the second straight year Crown Point emerged champions. The Hubmen battered East Gary 69-51 and Calumet 59-52 to earn another chance at Hobart in the final game. Behind Jim Crowell's 26-point performance the Bulldogs edged the Brickies 56-52 to retain the crown, which they also won last year. Crown Point's Rich Jackson received the Most Valuable award, which stellar guard, Sparky Sherwood, copped last year after the Hub Five clobbered Merrillville in the finals.

The slightly over confident cagers next traveled to Merrillville, where they suffered their first conference loss, 69-53. The boys perked up, however, and won their next six encounters, downing Edison, Highland, Lowell, Chesterton, Rensselaer, and Wirt. It was then that the cagers seemed to come apart at the seams. They lost a crucial conference game to Griffith, 72-58, putting them out of contention for the title, and then went on to lose to Hammond Noll, Valparaiso, and East Gary. They finally pulled out a win over Portage, 68-63, but were knocked off by Hammond Clark, 61-57 in their Sectional bid at East Chicago. Clark was later defeated by Highland in the Semi-final game.

"Now get in there and do something!" Coach Jones delivers pep talk to reserve team members during a close game.

Coach Jerry Jones and his junior varsity roundballers got off to a good start by clubbing Horace Mann 34-21 in their debut on the home hardwood, but from then on, happy moments were few and far between.

Dyer and Calmet were the first two invaders to knock off the young cagers, winning 30-24 and 35-18. The boys really took to the Culver floor, however, and bombed the Cadets 46-29. This proved to be the highest point-producing output of the season for the Bulldogs. The Red and White came back home only to get nipped by Delphi, 33-32, but again they gained a win on the road, smashing Hobart 42-21 for their largest winning margin of the year. They were stopped by Merrillville, Edison, Highland, Lowell, and Chesterton before they picked up a win over East Gary. After losing to Rensselaer and Wirt the Hub Five nudged Griffith 45-40, but dropped the last three games to Hammond Noll, Valpo, and Portage, for a 5-13 record.

Coach Isley's freshman cagers battled to a mediocre season, as the A-team won eight and lost seven while the B-team took six of their 15 encounters.

Both squads lost their openers to Calumet by substantial margins, but then the B-team corked Chesterton 24-17, and the A-team eked out a 40-39 victory. After this, the B-squad defeated Lowell's Red Devils, but were then bounced by Andrean, Highland, Griffith, and Merrillville before demolishing Valparaiso, 36-15. The first squad was having its troubles also as it managed to beat only Andrean, while losing to Lowell, Highland, Griffith, Merrillville, and Valpo.

After the Valpo game, however, the A-squad's fortunes improved drastically. In their last seven games they clobbered Rensselaer, Portage, Lowell, Andrean, Edison, and Wirt, while losing only to Dyer. The second squad didn't finish quite as strongly, though, outlasting Andrean, Dyer, and Wirt, while bowing to Rensselaer, Portage, Lowell, and Edison.

Matmen send record three to State

The Crown Point wrestling team finished the '62-'63 season with a 9-4 record, which is only mediocre for Coach Carl Carnahan's usually outstanding grapplers.

The Bulldogs started off in their usual fashion, knocking off Merrillville 30-14 and Portage 31-16, but their lack of over-all strength was obvious in their 26-20 loss to Highland's Trojans; however, Highland proved to be the only Calumet Conference loss, and there were times when the team had the old sparkle, as they walloped Dyer 38-8 and decimated Washington's Senators 47-2. The matmen also defeated tough Edison and Valparaiso squads, maintaining the perfect record CPHS wrestlers hold over those two teams.

Against Hammond High's state champions, the Bulldogs scored four straight falls before falling 32-20. Highlighting the regular season was the last meet, against arch-rival Lowell, later victorious in the Cal Conference tourney. Coach Carnahan's men shackled the Devils in a thriller, 24-22.

In the Sectional tournament, Heavyweight George Handley, 180-lb. Carl Hartman, and 127-lb. Bob Hand took 4th places; 120-lb. Mike Banser, 133-lb. Al Hittle, and 138-lb. Jim Bechtold grabbed 3rd's. But it was the three lightweights—95-lb. sophomore Ed Jackson and 103-lb. and 112-lb. senior co-captains Roy Rees and John Jackson—who starred for the Bulldogs.

The trio were undefeated in dual meet competition, and both seniors copped Conference crowns. All three swept both Sectional and Regional, giving Crown Point a 4th place in the latter. In the state finals Ed placed 3rd, Roy took 4th, and John duplicated his freshman feat by bringing home another 4th.

Hub nine has tough season

Coach Carl Carnahan's spirited, but too often out-classed, baseballers found themselves on the anemic end of a five and 11 record for the 1962 campaign. The team, as usual, went through a couple weeks of "spring training" in the gym until the weather permitted them to hit the field. The first day outside, they were greeted by the newest addition to the coaching staff, a wild, hard-throwing pitching machine named Walter Johnson.

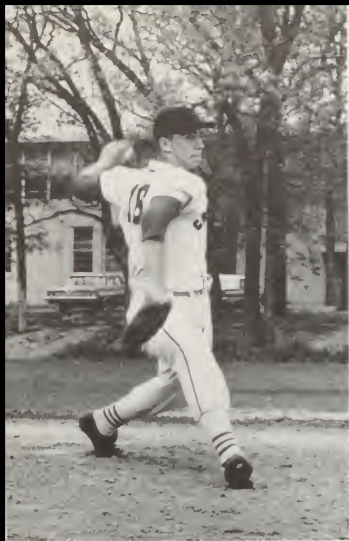

The eager Bulldogs waited anxiously for arch-rival Merrillville to venture onto the CP diamond, but the visiting Pirates scuttled Crown Point's hopes for a good debut by beating them four to one. The boys traveled to Hammond Morton only to be shut out, five to nothing, but they then managed to hand Washington's Senators a three to one veto.

Chesterton eked out a seven to five victory, but then the Bulldogs played errorless ball and collected 11 hits to stop Hammond Clark, six to four. The County Seaters hammered out nine and 12-run performances in their next two games but were on the short end both times, as they were downed by Calumet and Dyer Central.

East Gary, Edison, and Griffith handed the Hubmen successive defeats, but the outlook brightened somewhat as the boys managed to get past Highland, Merrillville, and Hobart; while losing to Lowell, Portage, and Wirt.

Although the Bulldogs could manage only three conference wins in 11 starts for a mediocre sixth place in the 12-team field, their spirit always made them worthy opponents. One of the happier results of the season was the selection of senior Jim Crawford and sophomore slugger Tom Witten to the Calumet Conference all-star team. Jim led the team in runs and total hits, while Tom slammed out an amazing .413 batting average to lead in that department. Jim Crawford and Joe Harris were elected co-captains at the close of the season.

Next season's varsity baseball prospects are certainly high as evidenced by the fine showing turned in by this year's reserve crew. The young Bulldogs smashed their way to a very good season mark of seven wins and only three defeats.

The Hubmen got the '62 season off with a bang as they emerged victorious from a two to one battle with a very determined Merrillville squad and then went on to corral the Horsemen of Horace Mann, five to two. Their prosperity suddenly took a sharp dip, however, as the Dyer Indians beat them twice in a row, seven to five and eight to seven.

The undaunted stickmen proved their stuff, though, in the next two games as they bettered Griffith twice by one run—six to five and three to two. With the sweet taste of success, the boys went on to overpower Calumet, Lowell, and Horace Mann before being upended by Calumet, seven to five.

Cindermen post fair record;

Injuries and lack of field-event strength allowed CPHS trackmen only slightly better than a 50-50 season in 1962. The Bulldogs ran well in dual and triangular meets, but made weak appearances in invitationals and relays. CP participated in three dual events, only half the number of previous years; however, more teams were met, as the Bulldogs ran in four three-team contests.

In the indoor match at Chicago University, the cindermen took a second in their first meet of the season. Hammond Morton hosted the Bulldogs at the Chicago Fieldhouse, winning 75 to 25. In other dual meets, CP lost to Valpo, 81 to 28 and then defeated East Chicago Roosevelt, 57½ to 51½. In triangular meets, the Bulldogs finished second against Chesterton and East Gary, with Chesterton on top. The cindermen then placed second to Wirt, with Portage third. On the home track the Bulldogs lost to Merrillville and beat Lowell, Highland, and Gary Edison. The team placed third at the Rensselaer Relays and at the Hobart Relays, fourth in the Little Five, and seventh at the Hammond Invitational. Against eight schools in the Calumet Conference, the cindermen placed fourth, and, for the close of the season, they placed eighth in the sectional.

Jim Greiner, Jack Linley, and Larry Linley led the long distance men with fine performances all season, proving to be the strong points of the team. Underclassmen gave power and depth in all events from the 100-yard dash to the mile, promising tough competition in the future. In the dashes, Denny Kaiser, Vaughn Rice, Jack Barber, and Ron Hartwell led the pack. Sophomore John Fricks placed third in high hurdles competition at sectionals, and was CPHS's only representative in the regional events.

1962 saw the strongest golf team in the history of CPHS. Led by the consistent sparkling play of Tom Kish and John Sherwood, the linksmen holed in with a remarkable season record of 35 wins and only 2 losses. Major awards went to Tom Kish, John Sherwood, Les Armstrong, Jim Sandstrom, Bill Estabrook, and Dave Gruenhagen—all seniors. Tom Kish had the distinction of being medalist, or lowest scorer in the meet, 14 times. Next in line in that department was John Sherwood with seven.

The Bulldogs won 11 straight matches before suffering a heartbreaking defeat at the hands of Valparaiso by one stroke. The boys went on to win 13 in a row, and to place sixth out of 24 teams in the Lake Hills Invitational. Griffith's Panthers then beat the Bulldogs by two strokes in a Conference tilt at Indian Ridge Country Club for the Hubsters' only Conference loss. This setback prevented a sole championship, and the team was forced to share the crown with Dyer. The Bulldogs ended the season by placing fifth out of 24 teams in the sectional held at Lake Hills.

Faculty lucks out over All-Stars

A short time before the Sectionals begin, CPHS holds its annual Interclass Basketball Tournament to raise money for the intramural fund and to offer the opportunities of tournament play to many students who could never experience the thrills and competitive atmosphere of "Hoosier Hysteria."

This year fifteen boys' and five girls' teams competed. The Junior boys advanced with a bye and a win over the "Venetian Blinds" to gain a final-game berth against the Seniors, who, scoring 171 points to their opponents' 71, polished off the Machine Shop, the "Tip Top Flops," and the Lettermen. The hustling Juniors found the range in the final game and downed the Seniors, 27-22. The "Bandettes" swept the girls' competition by defeating the Seniors, the "Hiccups," and the Juniors; while the Faculty edged the All-Stars, 38-37. Bob Lamphier and Diane Cassaday were named Most Valuable Players.

Interclass Tourney All-Stars, G. Gaines, V. Rice, T. Kaiser, B. Lamphier, C. Campbell, and J. Knight, take a breather during half time.

Cheerleaders and George help lead

One-year-old George the Bulldog, mascot of the Crown Point teams, promoted school spirit in the students, players, and cheerleaders. This spirit was often times lifted with just the appearances of George during the final quarter with the Bulldog Chant. Probably the most spirited yell though, is the school song, promoting the ideals of the CP-HS cheerleaders, players, and students: "We will always fight for you; you'll find us loyal, ever true." Varsity yell leaders performed these and many other cheers all through the football and basketball seasons. Reserve and freshmen cheerleaders gave underclassmen the chance to back their own classes in interscholastic games. New cheers learned by the red and white clad at Smith-Walbridge Cheerleaders camp gave variety to the old stand-bys. Then, summer practices and after school sessions gave the "Lucky 13" the togetherness required for fine executions of cheers.

Intramurals offer fun, competition

The year-round intramural program, with its excellent facilities and supervisors, again provided some sort of entertainment and competition for every interested student at CPHS. A myriad of activities, ranging from touch football to checkers, was available for the athletic and intellectual alike.

Golf, football, and soccer took the spotlight during the fall, while volleyball, basketball, and wrestling were avidly followed in the winter. In the spring the gym became tennis and badminton courts, and the balcony was converted into boxing areas. Meanwhile, the softball enthusiasts were letting off steam by chasing fly balls in the outfield. Chess, checkers, table tennis, and shuffleboard were offered all year.

The "Yokahama Hot Shots" and "Witten's Wolves" captured the lunch hour touch football championships, while Kirk Paneff and Bob White were grabbing first place banners in the table tennis and chess tournaments respectively. "Witten's Wolves," "Jackson's Jugheads," and the girls' team, the "Wee Winnie Winkies" swept the soccer tournament, and the immortal "Watusies," along with the "Perfect Squares," reigned volleyball champs.

Pat Barker carded the low net golf score of the year, and Bob Hand took low Gross honors. Jack Linley and Doug Conquest, both members of the cross country team, toured the pre-Thanksgiving turkey trot course to claim the prize gobblers, and the team of Jerry Ross and Chuck Easto placed first in shuffleboard. All lunch hour individual champions and winning-team members received felt championship banners, and the runners-up received similar awards.

Whee! Intramural shuffleboard is funnnnn.

Muscles strain as the ball descends during a tense game of intramural basketball.

Intramural ping pong during lunch hours helps keep CPHS'ers physically fit.

Student interest in intramural and lunch hour tumbling evolve into varsity gymnastics.

Friends

Alphabetized in the student files of 1963 were a most diverse set of names, each belonging to a particular face that possessed a unique personality. Yet this huge, motley crowd shared one thing in common—that is, an enthusiastic school spirit. A certain pride accompanied the news of some schoolmate's or team's accomplishment in scholarly endeavors or competitive sports. Individuals—senior, junior, and underclassmen—along with the faculty joined in a unanimous cheer to CPHS . . .

'63'ers set goals on new horizons

Student Council representatives for the senior class are A. Henderlong, S. Spencer, I. Watt, N. Seegers, D. Alm, C. Gerde, P. Petrunich, and B. Matthews.

In the year 1959 CPHS's battered and beaten freshman hall once more received its yearly influx of locker-slammers and wall-scribblers. Soon cries of "'63—the best!" rocked the school foundations. This energetic class spirit gradually evolved into a yet fiercer school spirit manifested at school activities. The following year the sole subject of locker conversations were class rings. After that, class sweaters of white on beige, then finally, as senior year rolled around, "cords" dotted the halls once more. Senior year activities ranged from the mirthful to the serious. The class's production of the comedy "Father Was a Housewife" entertained both the spectators and the participants, while the gauntlet of college applications, final exams, and term papers recalled each student to serious study.

Class leaders for the seniors are P. Mallatt, president, B. Matthews, vice president, I. Watt, treasurer, and P. Martin, secretary.

Officers plan bigger, better things

The junior class, which had passed safely through the trying two-year "period of adjustment", returned in numbers equal to last year's, but with enthusiasm perceptibly increased. They met the responsibility of planning and carrying out the Prom with dauntless assurance. Money was acquired not only by means of the class dance, but also through the ingenious method of peddling Bulldog Buttons. Sporting their sweaters juniors advanced toward their ever-nearing goal—graduation.

Knowing the ropes and no longer forced to familiarize themselves with new and strange surroundings, the Sophomores came ready to dig in. Of paramount interest was the selection of class rings which took place early in the year.

What club should I join? Will I be accepted? Uncertain freshmen soon learned they were accepted when they walked through the doors on the first day at CPHS. Provided with maps they dodged their way through the swarming halls and as the inevitable question popped up "Where am I?" someone was there to guide and explain.

Elected as Sophomore class officers for year '62-'63 are T. Hefner, C. Lewis, D. Butch, and B. Glassford.

Junior class officers B. MacIntosh, J. Fricke, D. Conquest, and B. Nelson discuss progress of Prom preparations.

Reviewing the added responsibilities of being class officers are freshmen G. Paarlberg, M. Neal, P. Cox, and P. Smith.

BUSINESS

Whether rushing uptown after school for that new pair of shoes, a new sweater, or just sauntering up for a coke, students of CPHS do their part in supporting the Hub City's 300 businesses. They are not the only ones by far; townspeople, neighbors, and people of the north end who work in the county offices of the town square trade in the community. The local stores and shops also add to the color of the county seat, giving it a warm and vibrant personality.

As a member of the Senior Class, very soon you will be making a decision regarding a big step into the future. Perhaps your decision will be to go on for further education. Or it may be, you will be looking for the job of your choice. In either event, this decision will affect and shape your future life in many ways.

Regardless of what you decide, we hope that the Inland Steel Company will be a part of your future. Many graduates are currently involved in successful careers here at the Harbor Works as part of the nation's basic steel industry.

Steel mill work today is highly complex, involving automated production lines which require people who can be trained in skilled jobs. Most of the jobs are involved directly in the steel-making process while others are available in the laboratories or in various departmental offices. Regardless of your interests, excellent opportunities exist with Inland Steel.

In addition to excellent paying jobs and an outstanding benefit program, Inland offers a variety of on-the-job training programs plus the Purdue-Inland Program. This Program, offered to a full time employee, provides training in the areas of steelmaking, mechanics, and electricity.

Plan now to investigate the many opportunities for your future with Inland Steel Company.

The EXCALIBUR is the winner of the All-American Honor rating from National Scholastic Press Association in 1954, 1955, 1956, 1957, 1958, 1959, 1960, 1961, 1962, and of the Medalist rating from the Columbia Scholastic Press Association in 1957.

the 1990s, the number of people in the world who are under 15 years of age has increased from 1.1 billion to 1.5 billion, and the number of people aged 65 and over has increased from 0.2 billion to 0.5 billion (United Nations 1999).

There is a growing awareness of the need to address the needs of the young and the old. The United Nations (1999) has identified the need to address the needs of the young and the old as one of the eight Millennium Development Goals. The United Nations (1999) has also identified the need to address the needs of the young and the old as one of the eight Millennium Development Goals.
